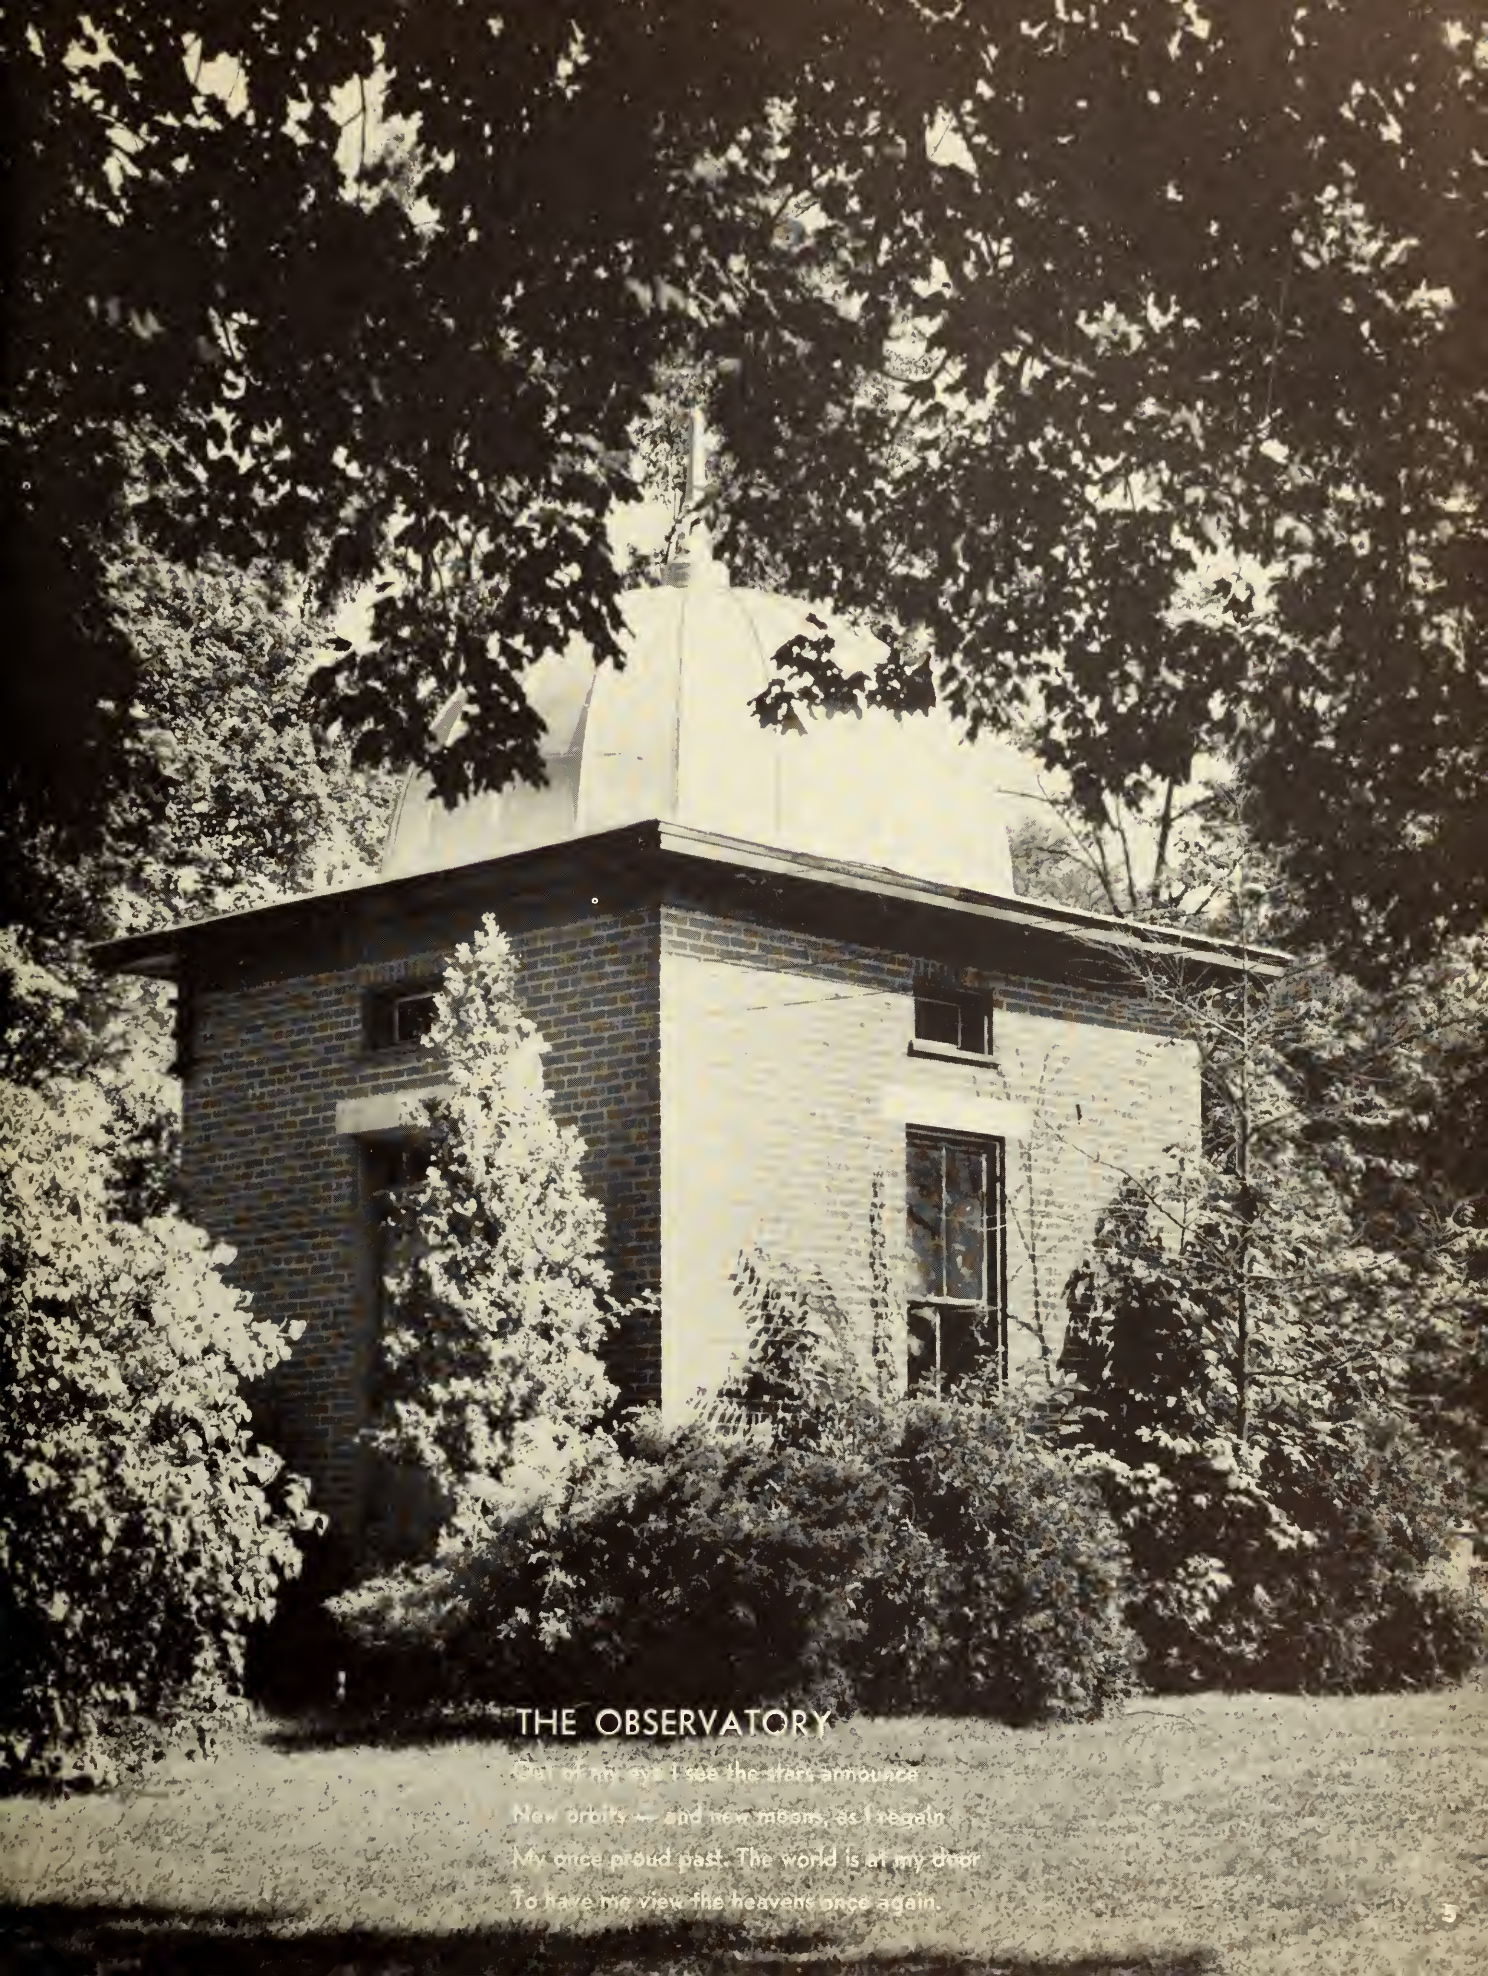
A PROEM OF PICTURE AND POEM

As we approach the end of another academic school year at Wilmington College, let us visualize the campus as one great stage. A stage on which the dramatization of one school year has been produced. The beautiful setting of this drama set at Wilmington College, Wilmington, Ohio, Clinton County, will unfold as you turn the next few pages. Paul W. Young, former editor of the WILMINGTONIAN, past Public Relations Director and alumnus of WC, sets the mood with his fine characteristic lines of poetry.

Our drama as we see it here will take its place in the history of Wilmington College as one act, in the many, added to the ones already performed. WILMINGTONIAN . . . 1956 is you, the students of Wilmington College, and your part in its steady growth. Let us sit back and be proud of our performance as truly the Wilmington College Players.

MAIN BUILDING

The old bell tower squared against the sky
Responds to ivy, struggling at its base.
The aged spruce keep up their whispering
As students hear of man, his arts, his race.



THE OBSERVATORY

Out of my eye I see the stars announce
New orbits — and new moons, as I regain
My once proud past. The world is at my door
To have me view the heavens once again.

THE LIBRARY

A key in his hand, the keeper of books
Unlocks the store of crowded stacks below.
Who writes these books and knows their giant bounds
Is King. Who reads them feels a kinder glow.

AUDITORIUM — FINE ARTS

Three arts live here — three arts that dwell in light.
Easel, scale and stage have formed a trilogy;
Drama, music, art playing merry roles.
The world applauds. The muses love all three.

DENVER HALL

Beneath an elm past students knew as well,
New hundreds file to find their table set.
They dine together, weld a golden band
To span the years — a bond they can't forget.

TWIN ASH

The twin ash trees are gone from where they stood.
The old veranda sheds the sun no more.
And yet this aged hall is pivot spot
For all the paths that link each campus door.

MARBLE HALL

Down this gray belt of concrete, laid down straight
To span the grass from campus lane to here,
A monument arises as I speak
And brings the world new freedom from old fear.

WOMEN'S DORM

In through these doors a lovely girl will go,
Happy and sensing a newer joy, like spring.
A queen, she will wear no jeweled crown of gold,
But reign where flowers bud and bluebirds sing.

BAILEY HALL

The world in a test tube — or on a slide —
Is captive here for all the time I give.
An atom, less than all man's tools in size,
May spill new secrets to the life we live.

SOUTH HALL

The men, the women, then the men once more,
Have hallowed these old walls and made them whole,
Have borne a banner for this box of bricks.
Now progress marks a new, forgotten role.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS BUILDING

A machine whirs, a burr flies to the floor,
New pipe threads spiral light like twisted knife.
No blueprint drawn could ever pattern more
Or circumscribe a nobler way of life.

WHITTIER PLACE GYM

Cage fans surround an oblong under lights.
The game of speed is on. The time runs short.
The whistle blows and victory is ours.
"The Bell" has rung for the amateur sport.

THE SLANT WALK

There they go. Their books closed and aptly marked,
They amble down the winding way from class,
Ending a day, a new year with their going.
Down this long path, all Green and Whites will pass.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

A special feature of the WILMINGTONIAN this year is the poetry descriptive of each of the campus buildings and some of the landmarks. These poems were written by Mr. Paul W. Young, former student at Wilmington, former editor of the WILMINGTONIAN, and Director of Public Relations.

With his career at Wilmington for background, Mr. Young is qualified to express his feelings about the campus in poetry.

After his resignation from the College staff, Mr. Young took a position with Hospital Care Corporation of Cincinnati. He and his family now reside in Cincinnati.

The WILMINGTONIAN staff has enjoyed working with Mr. Young and we gratefully acknowledge his co-operation and thank him for his work.

DEDICATION

For a dedication, what could be more appropriate than to dedicate the WILMINGTONIAN to the students? The students who are the history of the college year which is portrayed within the covers of this book. The students who have lived, thought, learned, loved, and grown during this year. The students who have been the 1955-56 school year of Wilmington College.

And so we, the WILMINGTONIAN staff, dedicate this edition of the WILMINGTONIAN to you, the student body. May it be a lasting and valued record of one of the outstanding years of your life.

WILMINGTON COLLEGE

WILMINGTON, OHIO

January 16, 1956

Bill Canter, Editor
"The Wilmingtonian"
Wilmington College
Wilmington, Ohio

Dear Mr. Editor:

A college is built of insubstantial stuff: of dreams and promises, of hopes and fears.

The dreams belong to all of us, but they are the particular responsibility of wise men and women - your teachers - who have been willing to forego immediate gain in order that your lives may be the richer for it.

The promises are wrapped up in the potential of young men and women who are only now beginning to be tested and to be tried.

The fears are those of incalculable tragedy that lies ahead unless man uses his intelligence and inspiration to avert it. Such disaster will be avoided at last only if man recovers confidence that God loves all his children and that he has a message and a meaning for their lives.

The Yearbook can represent this inner life of Wilmington College only in a fragmentary and insubstantial way. It can be a reminder, however, in years ahead of these dreams and dreamers, and of those performers on this stage. In time to come it will be a measure of promises fulfilled, and a bond of understanding between all those who live through these knowing years.

Faithfully yours,

Samuel D. Marble

WILMINGTON COLLEGE

SPORTS

Fred Raizk's Wilmington Quakers, starting slowly this season, nevertheless managed to rack up a highly-respectable 5-3-1 record.

Quaker play was highlighted by the stellar defensive work of men such as the tri-captains: center, Don Middle ton; guard, John Rape; and tackle, Vince Harmann. Also among the Quaker shining lights were Wayne Joyce, the hard-running Cleves, Ohio, halfback, and Bill Atsalis, whose field generalship often sparked the Raizk-men.

Joyce, selected for honorable mention on the AP All-Ohio team wound up the season twenty-first in the nation among small colleges in the total yards gained rushing. In eight contests, Joyce carried the ball 148 times for 789 yards, for a 5.4 average.

Atsalis, co-recipient (along with the excellent center, Don Middleton) of the Carr Trophy, annually awarded to the Quakers' most valuable player, was twenty-sixth in yards gained passing. The wiry little quarterback completed 48 out of 118 for 837 yards. Seven of his tosses went for touchdowns, with but two being intercepted.

In team pass defense, the Quakers rated seventeenth spot. The nine opponents tossed 70 aerials against Wilmington, completing 31 for only 393 yards. Ten opponents' passes were intercepted by Wilmington's defense and only three went for touchdowns.

The Wilmington cause was aided immeasurably this year by the gratis assistance of John Petty of Sabina, formerly with the Purdue Boilermakers and the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Adrian—22; Wilmington—19. Quaker offense came to life in the final eight minutes of play. With 8:57 remaining, and Adrian in the lead 22-6, Glaspey speared a stray Adrian pass to set up a Wilmington drive which was culminated when Atsalis rambled over for the TD. Just as the gun sounded, Atsalis fired a pass to Harmann, but it was too late.

WON-5, LOST-3, TIED-1

FRED RAIZK, COACH

Findlay—19; Wilmington—6. The Quakers' first venture into MOL play was the dropping of a 19-6 decision to the Findlay Oilers. Although the locals out-rushed and out-passed the Oilers, scoring was not up to par.

Wilmington—38; Ohio Northern—0. The Quakers finally found the victory trail when they journeyed to Ada to play the Polar Bears. The Polar Bears were soundly trimmed 38-0. During the hectic third period, Wilmington crossed the goal four times.

Wilmington—7; Defiance—7. A supposedly weak Defiance team rose to the occasion and held Wilmington to a tie. Defiance broke into an early 7-0 lead. Wilmington promptly bounced back with Joyce going over to score. The remainder of the contest was dominated by defensive struggle.

Wilmington—26; Georgetown—6. The winner's first tally climaxed a 68-yard drive, with Joyce going over. The second came on a 46-yard TD pass from Atsalis to Harmann. Another TD was scored on a 19-yard pass play to Pummell. For the final score, Joyce capped off a 70-yard drive with a twelve yard sweep around end.

Wilmington—39; Bluffton—25. The star of this Homecoming game was the diminutive speedster, Rodger Mickle. On four occasions, Mickle carried the pigskin over the final stripe. Joyce went over with two, while Bluffton's two ace halfbacks, Bill Taylor and Elbert Dubenson, shared four equally.

Ashland—7; Wilmington—6. This was the heartbreaker—the Quakers' great effort to unseat the defending MOL champs that fell short by one conversion. Although the Raizkmen played capably enough, the absence of Wayne Joyce was a telling blow. Joyce had been involved in an eligibility dispute that was later decided in his favor, but the coach had decided to withhold him from play.

Wilmington—6; Earlham—0. The strength of Wilmington's defensive line and secondary was the prime factor in the Quakers' second shut-out of the season. This time the Quakers of Earlham, Wilmington's sister school, were victimized in a nocturnal scrap. The lone score was recorded by Bob Weidner on a five-yard dash into the enemy end zone, the concluding play to a long Wilmington thrust.

Wilmington—19; Marietta—7. Marietta College was the Quakers' fifth and final victim of the 1955 season. An early score came on a 39-yard pass play from Atsalis to Harmann, capped off by Weidner's successful conversion. Mickle drove over from the two for the second Quaker score, but missed the conversion. Following a Williams-DeBlander aerial by the opponents, a series of penalties enabled Wilmington to assume control and start on its final TD march of the season.

With a surplus of returning lettermen, Quaker mentor Fred Raizk looked forward to one of his most successful seasons here at Wilmington. But, after a promising start that saw the Quakers play inspired ball at times, the Green and White five slumped badly towards the end of the season, and finished with a 7-10 collegiate record (plus a loss to the highly-regarded Wright-Patterson AFB service five, for a total season's mark of 7-11).

The season, nevertheless, had many bright moments. An upset victory early in the season over Mid-Ohio League stalwart Ohio Northern gladdened the hearts of Quaker rooters, while individual performances were frequently brilliant.

George Morton, diminutive guard from Franklin, Ohio, brought the fans to their feet many times with his flashy defensive play. Washington C. H.'s Charlie Cox was a steady scorer and fine rebounder throughout the year for the Raizkmen. But the season's brightest light was the stellar play of Jack Harner, a product of Dayton's tough high school loop. The deadly southpaw accounted for 418 points during the season, for a game average of 24. (The Wright-Patterson game is excluded from intercollegiate records.)

Despite their losing record, the Quakers packed a powerful punch, for they averaged over 78 points a game. This constituted one of the finest attacks in Quaker cage history.

QUAKERS—92 EARLHAM—78

The local cagers soundly trounced their sister Quakers in the campaign's curtain-raiser. Jack Harner tallied 27 times to lead the Green and White five, certainly a fore-taste of the work he was to do throughout the year.

QUAKERS—78 ASHLAND—80

Some of the Quakers' finest work of the season was recorded in this thriller on the local court, though they lost. Jack Harner, Captain Kent Bobo, and lanky Charlie Cox led the Quaker attack with 22, 18, and 15 points respectively. This was a genuine heart-breaker, and was viewed by an enthusiastic capacity crowd.

QUAKERS—71 CEDARVILLE—62

The Quakers' second victory of the season, on their first road contest, was chalked up over neighboring Cedarville. As usual, the capable Jack Harner led the way with 24 markers.

QUAKERS—81 BEREA—84

The lanky Kentuckians from Berea put a stop to the Quakers' winning ways, at Berea. A late Quaker rally fell a bit short. Charlie Cox led the bucket-brigade with 17 markers.

QUAKERS—91 WPAFB—96

A powerful Wright-Patterson Kittyhawk team handed the Quakers their second loss on the local boards. The airmen came back from an early deficit to win. Harner and Cox had 28 and 23, respectively.

QUAKERS—75 OHIO NORTHERN—73

The Quakers' most satisfying contest came when they froze out the visiting and highly-favored Polar Bears of Ohio Northern, 75-73. The Raizkmen came back to erase a 39-32 halftime deficit. Scoring was led by Jack Harner, who tallied 19. George Morton scintillated on defense.

QUAKERS—82 FINDLAY—67

The Raizkmen continued their winning ways with a convincing victory over a Findlay five which was playing (for the first time in a decade, it seemed) without Herk Wolfe. Harner was almost the whole show with 31 markers. The Quakers, needless to say, were never in trouble in this one.

QUAKERS—73 EARLHAM—89

The locals' return engagement with their sister Quakers was a very unfortunate one. First of all, it was marked by some very weird officiating. (Possibly because the game was officiated by the brother of Earlham star Jim Coulter.) Harner led the Quaker scoring, but it didn't do much good.

QUAKERS—92 BLUFFTON—75

Cox had 27, and Harner had 26, to pace the locals to a resounding triumph over Bluffton. The game was marked by some very fine officiating, principally by the colorful and laugh-provoking "Doc" Staley of Piqua.

QUAKERS—78 OHIO NORTHERN—87

The Polar Bears came from behind in the last period to upend Wilmington at Ada, Ohio. Harner scored a whopping 36, but a potent and relentless Ohio Northern attack was not to be denied.

ESUME

QUAKERS— FINDLAY—96

Kent Bobo had his best night of the year, with 24 points, and the Quakers backed him up well—offensively. Defensively, it was another matter. Findlay broke into the scoring column 96 times, and the Quakers lost another.

QUAKERS—74 DEFIANCE—84

The fine foul shooting of Defiance offset a well-proportioned Wilmington attack. (Harner and Bobo had 17, while Ron Asher had 16.) The result: another 10-point loss for the Raizkmen.

QUAKERS—80 CEDARVILLE—70

Wilmington got back on the victory trail with a ten-point win over weak sister Cedarville. Charlie Cox had a fine evening with 23 points.

QUAKERS—80 ASHLAND—89

The Quakers' valiant rally fell short in this battle, and it was another defeat for the luckless Quaker five. Jack Harner led the locals with 24.

QUAKERS—62 BLUFFTON—66

The local five outscored Bluffton from the field, but foul shots lost the game for them. The Raizkmen had 21 fouls called on them; Bluffton, but ten. Cox had his best night of the year, with 27 points. Harner was held to 12, which was probably the deciding factor.

QUAKERS—70 DEFIANCE—81

Another dismal night for the Quakers, WC again outscored the opponents from the floor, but personal fouls made the difference. Harner reagined his touch with 32 points.

QUAKERS—94 CAPITOL—104

A potent Capitol attack rolled over the Quakers in yet another defeat for the skidding locals. The Raizkmen scored well enough (Asher led with a fine total of 28; Harner had 25), but the Capitol fast-break was just too much.

QUAKERS—70 WILBERFORCE—50

At last! The Quakers ended their long and disastrous slump with a very satisfying victory over Wilberforce of Dayton. Jack Harner closed out a really fine season for himself personally by scoring 21 points. Gene Cornett, the scrappy and capable little guard, followed with 14.

Sigma Zeta was founded to promote fellowship and to bind the students closer to their college. The fraternity has striven to uphold these standards through their activities with parties, pledge classes and their participation in intramural sports, student government and other organizations on campus.

Highlight of the year was the annual Christmas Dance at which Miss Peggy Hanson was chosen Queen of Sigma Zeta. Her attendants were Daisy MacIntyre and Joy McDaniel. For the first time the Christmas Dance was co-sponsored by the sister sorority, Alpha Phi Kappa, with the theme of "Winter Wonderland."

The Sigs this year again held a party at the Clinton County Children's Home for the boys and the Kappas assisted by entertaining the girls. All enjoyed the Christmas spirit by presenting the children with gifts and caroling them.

A close tie is maintained between the active chapter and the alumni through the monthly publication of the fraternity paper, "The Fox's Tale." Another feature is the annual Founder's Day Dinner held in commemoration of the fraternity's founding in 1916 at which the active chapter entertains the alumni. This year the Founder's Day Dinner was held at the General Denver Hotel.

The Sigs initiated a total of 27 men this year, six the first semester and 21 the second semester.

Other activities have included two Pledge Dances at the Biltmore Hotel in Dayton, the Spring Formal on the Johnson Party Boat on the Ohio River, two basketball teams and a football team.

Officers are: Philip Walker, President; Paul Rynolds, Vice President and Pledge Master; Charles Assad, Secretary; Jim Landon, Treasurer; and Charles Assad, Social Chairman.

ALPHA PHI KAPPA

The Alpha Phi Kappa Sorority is the youngest sorority on campus. It was organized in 1921 by eight women whose aim was to promote friendship and improve themselves socially, morally, and intellectually. During the 1955-56 season the Kappas have tried to uphold these aims and to broaden them to include services to the college and community.

The season began with the Open House Party. The welfare family, a project of several years, was guest of honor at two parties. Food and clothing were also provided for them. At Christmas, in addition to their welfare family, each member adopted a little sister from the Clinton County Children's Home and took gifts to them.

The Kappas initiated twenty-four pledges during the second semester. Other group events included a coke party for all women on campus. The purpose of this coke party was to give students a better idea of what the sorority is and does. The Rush Party was held in the General Denver Hotel in February with the theme "A Trip to the Moon."

Other activities have included a Pledge Dance, Alumnae Reception, annual "Get Together," initiation banquet, and the Spring Formal which was held on Johnson's Party Boat on the Ohio River. The Annual Christmas Dance was co-sponsored by the Kappas and the Sigs this year for the first time. The theme was "Winter Wonderland."

Grace Maury and Peggy Hanson have shared the honor of being queen three times during the past year. Grace was May Queen and Homecoming Queen while Peg was Sigma Zeta Christmas Queen.

First row: Bill Glaspey, Ernie Clark, and Ted Boldman.

Gamma Phi Gamma fraternity was founded in 1907 by four men who had the idea of making a bond between the college graduate and his alma mater and the undergraduates. This organization which these four men founded is the oldest fraternity on campus.

The "Gobblers" pledged 18 new members, six in the fall, and 12 in the spring.

The activities of the year included the Alumni Banquet held at Lake Bae Flo for alumni members, two Annual Dances which were both held at Snow Hill Country Club, the Annual Spring formal, and the Delt-Gobbler picnic. The rush parties were held at the White House Restaurant and at Don McNeil's.

The Gobblers were also active in intramurals, with two basketball teams, one football team, and a softball team. In intramurals the basketball team won the championship for the sixth straight season.

A Turkey Raffle was held at Thanksgiving time.

Miss Jeanne Reffett, who was nominated by the Gobblers to enter the Campus Cover Girl Contest, was entered in the state contest.

In 1957 the Gamma Phi Gamma is planning its "Golden Jubilee" celebration.

Officers of the organization are John Chipman, President; Myron Puterbaugh, Vice President; Dick Hadley, Secretary; Jim Bonecutter, Treasurer; and John Rape, Pledgemaster.

The Delta Omega Theta Sorority was founded in 1907 by six Wilmington College women. This year's active members have initiated nineteen pledges to carry on their founders' tradition of promoting friendship.

The fall season was filled with many activities; among them was the open house, which acquainted new and old students with active members of the sorority. The sorority also sold perfume and cards as a money-making project. The skirt and sweater party was held in January in the sorority room for all women on campus to get better acquainted and to learn more about sororities. The Annual Rush Party with its theme "Record Shop" was held at the General Denver Hotel.

The Deltas have adopted three welfare families, a continuation of a past project. They had parties and other activities for the children, as well as helping to provide clothing for them.

The new pledge class has helped with some projects of cleaning up around campus, painting and cleaning sorority rooms, and they presented a program for the Old People's Home, which is an annual project.

Other events of the year include the initiation banquet, the Pledge Dance and the Spring Formal.

For three years in succession, the Delts have won first place on the Homecoming Float. This gave the Delts permanent possession of the Homecoming Float trophy. The theme of the float was "Don't Fiddle With Us."

The Delts also had a queen in their midst this year. Mrs. Charlene Parry was chosen as Sweetheart of Tau Kappa Beta fraternity.

During the year the Annual Kick-Off Dance and Sweetheart Dance was held. The Rush Party for each semester was held at the General Denver Hotel. They also raffled the Homecoming Football as another activity. In May they held their Annual Spring Formal.

The T.K.B. was very active in intramural contests, having two football and two basketball teams participating in the college program.

The Annual Homecoming Banquet held at the General Denver Hotel, was enjoyed by over 100 alumni, members, and guests. The fraternity won second place with their float entrance in the Homecoming Parade.

Their work included planning for a school ring, bringing Paul Barbarin's jazz band for Folk Festival, planning the W.U.S. drive dance, and planning the events of recognition day.

The Senate also made activity fee allocations, and appointed a committee to study the possibility of establishing a Student Court on the Wilmington College Campus. In addition to this work, the Senate supervised all campus elections.

EXPANSIONAL REVIEW

This year the literary magazine of Wilmington College was headed by Editor Robert Bravard and Business Manager Richard Lewis. This year the magazine made an attempt to gain more interest in the Expansional.

From the beginning of the year, the editor followed a new policy of permitting the staff to make all major decisions. This year's book included short stories, essays, poetry, and an editorial.

Margery Frisch worked very hard with the editor in the position as his assistant in compiling the material for the magazine.

RECOGNITION DAY

Late last spring the annual Illumination Night was held, with its crowning of the May Queen; however, for the first time the ceremony was combined with a recognition of students who had been outstanding in various fields during the year.

The retiring queen, Miss Charlotte Daugherty, crowned new queen, Grace Maury, who was elected from the junior class women; Miss Maury's attendants were Fonda Lou Allen, Janet Wilson, Sandra Sabin, and Phyllis Colliflower.

After the processional of queens and attendants to the throne on the lower slope of the front lawn, Mr. Hugh Heiland presented awards to students. Fifteen persons were honored by certificates from the Student Senate for outstanding contributions to the school; an outstanding faculty member was named: she was Miss Evalyn Hibner of the Business Administration department. Other awards were given for journalism, mathematics, history, drama, athletics, and science. Who's Who certificates were presented, and the winners of the Rhoda Corwin Essay Contest were introduced.

After the ceremonies, women students dressed in formals formed a lantern parade through which the queens and attendants passed in recessional.

Crucible . . . based on the actual Salem witch trials of 1692—paralleled current happenings in the United States. Here, Proctor is meeting secretly with Abigail, who cried "Witch" and caused innocent people to die. The play, done on a black, bare stage, climaxes as Proctor is hanged, to the pounding of drums.

SUMMER THEATRE

Billed as "American Play Parade," a five year program of summer theatre opened at Wilmington College in 1955. With Hugh Heiland of the College drama department, and Kelly Danford of Ohio State University as directors, a group of college drama students, semi-professional and professional actors, and local people gave four plays to open the series.

American Play Parade was officially opened on July 21, when Governor of Ohio, Frank J. Lausche, unfurled the Play Parade flag at a short ceremony outside Boyd Auditorium. For the rest of the summer, the flag flew at the top of the Auditorium on the day of every performance.

The actors were on campus for eight weeks, during which time they rehearsed and did all crew work for the presentations given Thursday through Sunday of each of the last four weeks.

The plays, chosen to depict four periods of American life, were:
"Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker,"
"Silver Whistle,"
"Crucible," and
"Ten Nights in a Barroom."

1955 HOMECOMING

Homecoming this year was a huge success—a lovely queen, Miss Grace Maury, was crowned by retiring queen, Charlotte Daugherty. The name of the queen was not announced until halftime of the game. The Queen and her court received loving cups from the Student Senate at this time and both queens received bouquets of roses.

Eleven floats, the Wilmington high school marching band, the American Legion color guard, queens and court, and the cheerleaders formed one of the largest parades in the history of the college. The football team handed Bluffton a defeat, the weatherman cooperated beautifully, and the alumni came back to campus to enjoy the day's activities, which were topped off by a dance in the Gymnasium with music by Jimmy James' orchestra.

Co-chairmen Gene Kinghan and Bill Canter worked with their committees to formulate the entire program into the theme of "Carousel." This was the first time that Homecoming had been worked into a theme.

Delta Omega Theta won first prize for its "Fiddling" float, the QUIPS and Denver Dorm tied for first place in the campus decorations contest, and the S and R Shoe Store won first prize for the downtown decorations.

4th ANNUAL WILMINGTON ARTIST SERIES

Frankel-Ryder dance-drama duo

Wilmington's Artist Series this year brought drama, dance and music to the campus and the community. First on the program was the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, playing a return engagement. Next was the internationally known pianist Grant Johannesen; the LaSalle quartet followed with its noted renditions of string music. The College's own drama department then presented an evening of three one-act plays: "Lithuania," a thriller; "If Men Played Cards As Women Do," a comedy; and "Aria da Capo," a symbolic tragedy. Final on the regular program was the Frankel-Ryder dance-drama duo. A special addition to the season was the appearance of the Cincinnati Civic Orchestra.

The committee which planned and arranged for the appearances during the 1955-56 school year included faculty, students, and townspeople.

DEDICATION

The new freshman dormitory for women was dedicated in November; it was the first of the three buildings planned to be built from the Kettering Challenge money. The dorm was named Friends Hall.

On Friday evening of the dedication week end, the president of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Howard Thorne, announced the name of the building.

WEEK END

The Academic Convocation on Sunday featured the dedication's major speaker, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Earl Warren. Justice Warren addressed the Convocation on the importance of youth to the world today. After his address, Justice Warren was given an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree; Mr. Charles Kettering who gave the challenge gift was given an honorary Doctor of Science degree.

9TH ANNUAL FOLK FESTIVAL

The Folk Festival was highlighted by the appearance of the Paul Barbarin original jazz band. All the three days of the Festival were well received by the audience.

International Night this year was expanded to include performances of foreign dances and music, and group folk singing, as well as the traditional folk dances.

Students from Ohio high schools and colleges stayed on the campus over the weekend, to practice and participate in the Sunday concert. The concert featured the performance of a composition by James Yannatos of the music department.

Barbarin's group presented an afternoon and an evening concert; New Orleans style brought the audience to its feet.

A panel of faculty members from four neighboring colleges discussed the topic "Colonialism Today," and an exhibit of African art objects were also featured during the Folk Festival weekend.

"Amish we ain't . . . Mennonite, still"

"Devils you bear me for children," says Papa Aukamp, Roger Grooms; to Mama, Marlene Manker.

"From my own house, they're driving me, still!" says Papa to Jake and Officer Brendel, Jack Baker.

"PAPA IS ALL"

"Papa Is All" was the 1955 fall presentation of the Drama department. It was a comedy of a Mennonite family which resisted dictatorial Papa Aukamp. Finally, he was sent to jail for getting the wrong man when he tried to shoot his daughter's boy friend.

Two freshmen, Marlene Manker and Martha Hudson, gave excellent character portrayals in their first college roles. Doing a fine job playing their first roles were Jack Baker and Pat Simpson, sophomores. Then, experienced WC actors Roger Grooms and Joel Wilson played the other two parts.

Bob Buzan was to have had the part of Jake, but was forced to leave the cast because of illness.

"Papa" was presented on November 17-19 for students and the community; special performances were given on November 25, 26 as part of the activities of the weekend dedication of Friends' Hall. Hugh G. Heiland, head of the Drama department, directed the play for all except the rehearsals and performances of the special week, which was handled by Mrs. Woodrow Williams of Wilmington High. These performances conflicted with Mr. Heiland's annual New York Drama Tour. Dan Strain was crew supervisor and Roxanna Walton was stage manager.

"Ita came upon a midnight clear." Martha Hudson as Mrs. Yoder; Marlene Manker as Mama Aukamp.

"He'll kill the surweyer, you know he will." Joel Wilson and Pat Simpson, Jake and Emma Aukamp.

ONE-ACT PLAYS

"It always takes me one hand . . . to count the other."

As part of the Artist Series, the drama department presented an evening of three one-act plays on February 9. The casts included students, townspeople, and faculty, including the director, Hugh G. Heiland.

The first play, "Lithuania," by Rupert Brooke, was a tense, frightening drama.

Second was a light comedy, a satire on women. It was George Kauffman's "If Men Played Cards As Women Do."

Last was the colorful harlequin-motifed "Aria da Capo," by Edna St. Vincent Millay. This tragedy of life was a round, and it embodied a bitter symbolism within its beauty.
